

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method is provided, which is applied to measurement for a position of an object according to an image of the object captured by a camera unit. The method includes the following steps: calculating a discrepancy of an incident beam of light penetrating a lens system of the camera unit relative to an optical center of the lens system, and compensating the position of the object according to the discrepancy.